Energy Saving Tips For The Week

FROM THE VIRGINIA ENERGY OFFICE

It's time to really concentrate on Christmas now. If you haven't already done so, finish your gift list today - and chart your shopping expeditions to save traveling time and fuel.

Make it easier for your friends and relatives to turn their heat down at night and save on energy costs . . . Electric blankets use little energy themselves, but keep that winter chill out.

Consider getting a living, rather than cut, Christmas tree this year. You can use it indoors during the holidays - then plant it on the windward edge of your property. As the tree grows larger, it will protect your home against cold winds - and reduce your heating bills for years to come.

A winter fashion energy-saving tip for the lady at home. Wear slacks, they'll keep you 1.5 degrees warmer than a skirt.

Buying new Christmas tree lights? You'll save electricity by selecting strands of miniature or midget bulbs. They'll use only 18 watts per hour per set.

Make your Christmas tree twinkle - literally - and save electricity at the same time. Twinkle lights are on only half the time, so electricity use is cut in half.

If you have a large indoor Christmas tree and prefer decorating it with full-size bulbs, select a set with cooler burning bulbs. They are designed for plastic trees, but they're bright and attractive, and draw only 6 watts per bulb compared with the 7½ watts used by standard bulbs.

Town Has Annual Christmas Dinner

The Town of Appomattox held its annual Christmas dinner on Monday evening at the Parkway Restaurant. Town officials, all town employees, invited guests, and members of the Appomattox Volunteer Fire Department were present.

At this annual dinner, members of the fire department are honored for their service to the town and county during the year. Mr. Paul Drinkard and Mr. James Ford accept donations from citizens in the photo above, left to right, are Hugh Mitchell, Fire Chief; Carl Wooldridge, Fire Committee; Mr. Drinkard; and Mr. Ford.

Assistant Fire Chief R. L. Bass, on behalf of the firemen, presented Drinkard and Ford with gifts.

TIMES-VIRGINIAN SETS EARLY CHRISTMAS EDITION

The Christmas week edition of the TIMES-VIRGINIAN will be published and mailed Monday, December 22nd. Most area residents will receive their issue of this paper on Monday afternoon and all subscribers will receive their copy on Tuesday morning--still in time to read all the news and "ADS" FOR THE "late Christmas shoppers".

Advertisers and news contributors are requested to help us by getting their copy in to us on Thursday or Friday of this week. Deadline for copy will be noon on Saturday, December 20th. The staff at the TIMES-VIRGINIAN will be working all day Saturday in order to get the Christmas edition ready for you before the holiday.

We will resume regular circulation January 1,1976.

ASAP Agreement Signed By Board Of Supervisors

Meeting in regular session on Friday morning of last week, the Appomattox County Board of Supervisors signed a cooperative agreement with the Central Virginia Alcohol Safety Action Program. Appomattox County was the last governing body in the area to sign the agreement for the Central Virginia ASAP.

Martin Watts, Criminal Justice Analyst of the planning district commission, told board members that the plan, aimed at rehabilitating persons charged with drunken driving, will start accepting referrals from area courts January 19, 1976. Drivers referred to the program will be divided into three groups, social drinkers, pre-problem drinkers, and alcoholics.

The agreement signed by Appomattox and other counties and cities creates the program, designates Central Virginia Community College as the administrative body and establishes a policy advisory board. The policy advisory board will insure local input for the program.

The program is designed to be self-supporting in three years. Drivers must pay a $150.00 fee to participate. No local funds currently are involved in ASAP, Watts said. The Appomattox supervisors had endorsed the program in a meeting on October 10.

In other business, the board approved the relocation of trash containers at Triangle Plaza Shopping Center.

Friday was the last meeting for supervisors J. C. Cole and O. H. Tolley, who were defeated in the November election. Dr. S. R. Lawson and J. M. Cobb, Jr. who will replace them on the Board of Supervisors were present for the meeting.

The January 9th meeting will be the organizational meeting for the supervisors. At this time they will set dates for meetings and elect a Chairman and Vice-Chairman of the Board.

REMINDER

Don't forget the special "Civil War Christmas" at Appomattox Court House National Historical Park this Saturday, December 20 from 7 p.m. to 10 p.m. Dress warmly and remember to bring a flashlight. In event of rain or particularly bad weather the evening activities will be cancelled. The village will remain decorated and lit from December 20 to December 27 with the buildings open on the night of the 20th only. Appomattox Court House National Historical Park is closed on Christmas Day.

4-H'ers In State Contest

Beverly Harvey and Laurie McLean represented Appomattox County 4-H'ers in the State Make It Yourself With Wood Contest on Saturday, December 13, 1975.

The day long events connected with the contest were held at the Donaldson Brown Continuing Education Center, VPI-SU, Blacksburg, Virginia.

Beverly placed in the top six in the Junior Division and won a clothing book for her fine participation.

Laurie placed first in the Junior Division of the Pre-Teen Category and won a suit length of wool fabric.

The Appomattox County Extension Office is very proud of the fine manner which these two ladies represented 4-H'ers in the State Contest.

Mrs. McCoy Receives Certificate

John D. Ripley, Jr., Sectional Center Manager Postmaster, is shown above presenting Mrs. Ora S. McCoy certificate appointing her Appomattox Postmaster on Friday of last week. Mrs. McCoy began her duties as Post Master effective October 25, 1975. Mr. Ripley has Appomattox Post Office under his area of responsibility as appointed by the Postmaster General.

Local Rescue Squad Answers 53 Calls In November

The volunteer members of the Appomattox County Rescue Squad responded to a total of 53 emergency calls during the month of November. Eighteen persons were injured in eight automobile accidents.

A total of 283½ man hours were spent in answer to the calls and volunteers travelled a total of 2611 miles.

A breakdown of the emergency calls is as follows: transports, 4; falls, 3; overdose, 2; 1 false call; chest pains, 6; 1 heart attack; back pain, 2; nose bleeds, 1; auto accidents, 8; 1 baby delivered; maternity transports, 2; abdominal illness, 8; strokes, 4; cuts, 1; diabetic, 1; stab wound, 1; head injury, 1; convulsions, 1; breathing difficulty, 3; leg injury, 1; and broken bones, 1.

In addition to the 53 calls, three units went out as backup on accidents, there were three stand-by calls, and the squad participated in 1 parade.

SEND YOUR LETTERS IN TO SANTA CLAUS

Children are invited to bring in their letters to Santa Claus and the Times-Virginian will publish them in the next issue of this newspaper.

Your letters should be in our office Thursday or Friday of this week so that we can get them in the paper and then sent on to the North Pole.

School Board Reviews Instructional Program

The Appomattox County School Board met in regular session on Thursday, December 11. In reporting on the instructional program, Lloyd Walton, Superintendent, referred to the educational program as "effective and efficient for students in grades K-12".

In recent years the educational opportunities for students in Appomattox County have advanced due to the initiation of a kindergarten program, special educaiton for handicapped children and a more comprehensive vocational program.

Teachers, administrators and parents are working together on committees in conducting a self-study as a step toward accreditation by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools. This study involves a careful appraisal of the school's present program and a projected plan for continued progress.

Appomattox Elementary, Primary and Pamplin Schools are involved in the self-study program during this year and through next year. Appomattox Middle and Appomattox County High Schools plan to participate in the program of self-study in the near future.

School Board Chairman, Lyle Garrette, stated that the Board was very proud of the accomplishments of the school system. He expressed appreciation to the teachers and all employees for their dedication, interest in students and competent performance. He also stated that the support and involvement of parents contributed greatly to the program.

In other business the Board heard a report from Mrs. Jean Mills and Mrs. Joyce Jamerson, president and vice president, respectively of the Appomattox County Education Association, on a meeting they recently attended in Richmond on collective bargaining. They will be in the corrections wing at the Medical College of Virginia Hospital.

Miss Lawson is a native of Appomattox and a 1970 graduate of the Medical College of Virginia School of Nursing. She has been on the MCV nursing staff since 1970, for the past two years serving as nursing supervisor of the medical division.

Students Participate In Oratorical Contest

Students in grades 8-12 in Appomattox County Public Schools are participating in the statewide Bicentennial Patrick Henry Oratorical Contest, "We Hold These Truths . . ." The Virginia General Assembly in 1975 passed a resolution endorsing a bicentennial oratorical contest.

Contests have been held at Appomattox County High School and Appomattox Middle School in preparation for the divisionwide contest which will be held on February 10. Winners in the two schools are Teresa Cyrus an eleventh grader at ACHS, and Ernie Chenault, an eighth grader at AMS.

The purposes of the contest are to involve young citizens in a meaningful bicentennial project, to reinforce their knowledge of the General Assembly, and to acquaint students further with their heritage of freedom. It is intended that the contest will provide emphasis on the study of Virginia history, will encourage the development of oratorical talents among secondary school students, and will acquaint students with historical events and great leaders and orators of Virginia's Revolutionary Period.

Following the divisionwide contest, there will be a congressional district contest. On June 28-19, the final contest will be held in Williamsburg.

Nine Gallon Blood Donor Is Recognized

Newton Jennings of Appomattox was recognized at the December visit of the Red Cross Bloodmobile on donating a total of nine gallons of blood to the program. He has through the years been a most faithful blood donor and fully realizes the need for blood . . . the lifesaving need. mr. Jennings was presented with a "Nine Gallon Donor Pin".

Newton Jennings

A total of 105 units of blood were donated at the visit last week. The quota for this visit was set at 102 units so Appomattox County is still 100% in the Blood Program.

Others recognized were Katherine Godsey, a three gallon donor; Jimmy Marshall, Steve Baker and Gordon Staples, all two gallon donors; and Leonard McCormick, Wilson Newton Harvey, Myrtle C.
